

Disclaimer: I am not doing this out of malintent, for drama points, for revenge, or as a gotcha moment. I am doing this to inform, there's nothing funny about lying regarding your age on the internet, especially as a minor. It leaves you vulnerable to situations no minor should be in. To my knowledge, as of the writing of this document, he has denied all claims of lying about his age. In addition to this, not all names and pictures will be shown fully because that is doxxing, which is a crime, as well as that people requested that I not. I won't be naming some people in this document to protect their identity at their request and for their safety. I did not find everything on my own, some items were sent to me. Some proofs will seem invasive, I apologize, but denying the truth led some people to do their research using public information on the internet.

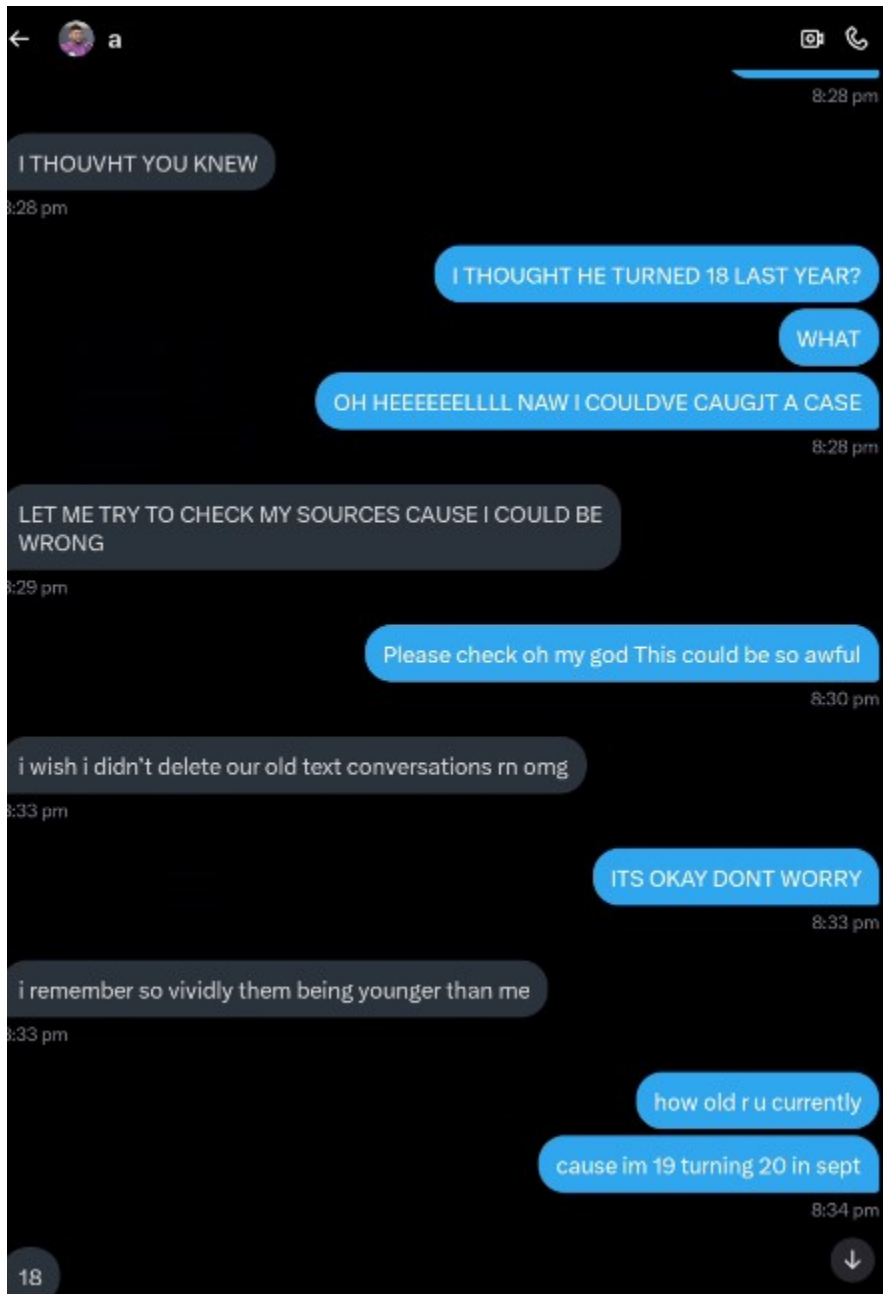

Dates are in dd/mm/yyyy format.

Jay (@/sournaide, better known as nuikamishiro, or prodtoya) has been lying about his age online for the past two years. Although his Twitter and Discord account currently states that he is 18, that is not the truth. Jay's supposed Date of Birth was always believed to be July 9th, 2006 by a multitude of his friends and me, his ex-girlfriend. However, while discussing the topic of the breakup with his old friend Azzy (previously known as Blitz), they mentioned that Jay used to lie about his age. This confused me as to my knowledge, Jay was born in 2006, not 2007 and this would mean we would've had a two-year age gap, meaning that we would've been dating while he was 15 and I was 17. Which is gross and I would never do it as it's just. Gross.

SUNDAY(night)/MONDAY

At the time of writing this document, he still has 18 in his bio.

The screenshot shows a Twitter profile for user 'jaaaaaaaay' (@sournaide). The profile has 49.8K posts, 372 following, and 1,198 followers. The bio includes a mix of English and Korean text. A pinned tweet from September 10, 2024, mentions '18' and '17 year old son'. A calendar overlay shows May 22, 2025, as the current date. A notifications pop-up indicates 'No new notifications'.

Then Azzy asked their partner about Jay's age, and it yielded the same results.

I then made these tweets, which prompted constant threats in my anon box.

And on Monday, 19th May, Azzy sent me a photo of them wishing Jay a happy 14th birthday in 2021. $2021-2014 = 2007$

After this, I didn't tweet very publicly about this. I found it unnecessary because Jay doesn't tweet on his main page often, and I figured that the world kept spinning whether people believed me or not. It stopped spinning when one of his IRLS, who wished not to be named, dmed me, insisting that he was 18, turning 19, as well as past friends sending me proof that he could be potentially lying. An IRL also tweeted that Jay was 18.

situation

TUESDAY

I asked an IRL if Jay provided any form of identification. They replied no, but they claimed that they've been to his birthday party and it would take, and I quote, "a lot of effort to fake all of that."

Earlier, tweets were found replying to his old users concerning his age, being 13 years old after July 9th in 2020. $2020 - 13 = 2007$. This would line up with Azzy's message of Jay turning 14 in 2021.

Bonus: Jay using his brothers' birthday (October 15th, 2005) to seem older. Unsure how someone can age in reverse.

One person pointed out that the birth dates of Jay and his brothers are quite close.

Luckily, I did Biology for 5 years, so I know a bit about this.

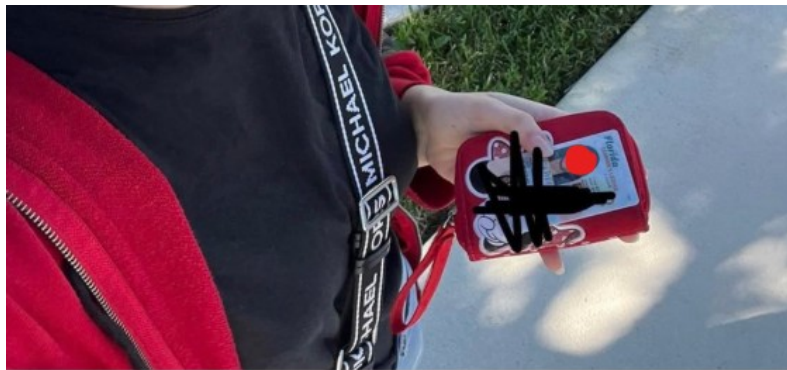

Jay: 09/07/'06'

Brothers: 15/10/2005

It is highly unlikely for Jay's conception to have occurred so quickly after his brothers' birth due to fertility not returning as well as the fact that ovulation rarely occurs immediately after pregnancy. If his brothers were born on October 15, 2005, Jay's conception would have had to happen between October 12 and 19, during or immediately after his mother's giving birth.

WEDNESDAY

It was discovered on Jay's public Instagram that the driver's license Jay got was, in fact, a Learner's permit, which you can get at age 15 in Florida.

It can also be seen that although he scratched out his Date of Birth, he left a 7 at the end. Which indicated that he would be born in 2007 and not 6. I cannot post videos on a document, but if you overlay the 07 from the month of his birth over the barely scratched out 7, it is a complete match up.

THURSDAY

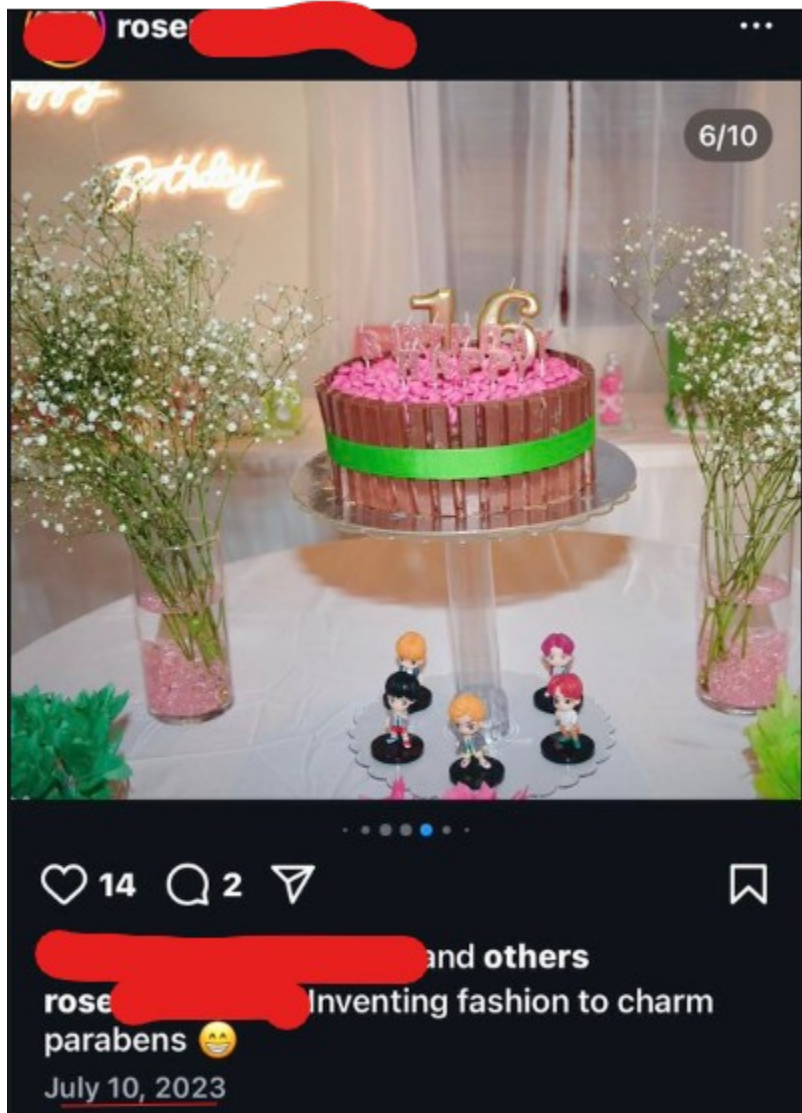

This person wishes to remain anonymous. At 3 am, I received a message stating that they believed my claims and provided me with proof. Despite Jay's denial, they did their search for the truth. This is what they sent me. Names censored for privacy reasons.

Alongside this, another person who was Jay's friend sent me this.

Final Statement

As of the time I am finishing this document, he still claims to be 18.

That is all the proof that has been given to me. No, I did not make anyone search for this information for me. It was mostly sent to me, besides a few tweets and the driver's license thing.

I'm sorry that it had to get to this point. I genuinely wished something would prove all this wrong. I never wanted to have to go so far, but people, and Jay's current friends, deserve to know the truth. I do not condone any type of harassment or bullying towards Jay, nor am I making you choose between me and him. It's not my right to dictate your decisions. This is not an attempt to cancel him, only to inform. Thank you for your time.
